

Clowns always bring us fun and laughs. Yet, do you know their hardships behind? This summer, AYP Schools Operating Authority co-organized with Hong Kong Funny Clown Theatre to provide the first ever Clown's Life Experiential Camp in H.K. to SOA participants. There were 28 participants from 12 different secondary schools took their first try in experiencing the performance art of clowns from 6 – 10 August 2007 at Duke of Edinburgh Training Camp.

The participants tried their first ever attempts to learn a series of training, such as posturing, cycling, make-up and acrobatics. They were required to produce their own clown performance, which were performed on the last day of the camp. Although they might not have experiences in clowning, they overcame all uncertainly factors and made the show success.

We would like to thank all the participants for their active involvement in these five days. Of course, our Clown instructor Andrew So and group leaders deserve our grateful thank for their patience and guidance throughout the camp, which made "Clown for Life RP Camp" successfully completed in laughters and clappings.
